STANDARD OIL PILOT KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

KILLER LEADS POLICE TO BODY OF SLAIN SWEETHEART

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Now that the water company is finished with tearing up Macdonald avenue and has very, very carefully relaid the street in such a manner that one will only break one instead of two, we can expect the gas company to start work.

The utility companies seem to delight in wrecking the streets—especially the mostly traveled avenues.

And the long suffering motoring public says words, but never does anything.

And the city is now at work laying down gravel on some of the streets.

Gravel is beautiful stuff for one's tires. To put on the brakes suddenly means that the car will skid forward with the tiny stones cutting into the tires.

One can imagine that in the year 2030 irate subscribers will write to the newspapers as follows.

"Gentlemen: This one armed flying monster. It is a risk to the air traffic of the nation."

"Yesterday while flying from New York to my home in San Francisco, I counted exactly 100 of these dangerous aviators."

"And every one of these young fools was going more than 500 miles an hour."

"It is my opinion gentlemen, that there should be something done about this outrageous state of affairs."

And another one:

"While commuting between my home in Seattle and my offices in San Diego I have several times barely missed crashing with these advertising balloons."

"I feel very strongly about the whole matter, gentlemen. How long are you going to allow these commercial firms to spoil the beauty of our airways?"

"Several times I have noticed in the vicinity of San Francisco one of these advertising balloons placed in the main traffic zone. Can't something be done about it?"

And again:

"Sirs: Something should be done about our air police."

"It seems to be the habit of these gentlemen to lie in wait behind a cloud until one of our fast planes go by and then give chase."

"Probably these gentlemen with the badges delight in seeing how many arrests they can make."

"Now, I believe gentlemen, that our police planes should (Continued on Page 5)

MOTOR FALLS OUT OF PLANE

PASCO, Wash., May 15.—UP—Al French, 35, pilot for the Standard Oil company, was killed today when a monoplane he was flying fell 500 feet in a spectacular accident at the municipal airport.

The plane lost its motor as French tried to gain altitude and the engine ripped away one wing. The plane dropped like a plummet. French was trying out the craft. It was thought that French who was accustomed to flying heavier machines, put too much strain on the light plane.

He entered the Standard Oil company service as pilot of the trimotored plane, "Standard of California." His wife, Mrs. Elmer French lives at San Bruno, Calif.

MAN GETS 600 DAYS IN JAIL

Two charges placed against Ernest M. Morris, of Tewksbury Heights, yesterday resulted in sentence to 600 days in the county jail, passed by Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom.

Possession of slot machines and liquor caused his arrest by Clyde Laird, county officer, who also acted as complaining witness.

On the slot machine possession charge, Morris pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or 100 days in jail. A sentence of 500 days in the county jail or a fine of $500 was imposed for the liquor possession count.

Morris was unable to pay either fine and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The jurors further showed by their answers that they did not hold the governor guilty of subsidizing the Kofler company's brass band to play at his campaign meetings.

MAN FREED AFTER 2 HOURS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—UP—In the center of a large business district here an aged man was locked in a large bank vault tonight as securely as if it had been the blockaded shaft of a mine.

More than two hours after Raymond Wolfe, 65, had been imprisoned in the vault, which had walls 20 inches thick, safe experts succeeded in boring a hole large enough to give him some fresh air.

A short time later the opening was enlarged so that he could crawl out.

Police and newspapermen were unable to learn how Wolfe, a depositor of the bank, became trapped in the vault, which had a time lock set for early Friday morning.

After he was rescued he was unsteady on his feet and was hurried to his home where he told his daughter he had had a "fearful experience" and "felt ill."

Cutting torches and sledge hammers were used to complete the rescue of Wolfe.

His presence in the vault was determined when, while pounding on walls to attract attention, he accidentally set off the burglar alarm.

The robbery occurred in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Herr.

Two guests, Mrs. Hazel Judd and Madeline Murphy were present. The robbery is the sixth attributed to Winkler and Burke, the latter accused of being the gunman in the Chicago St. Valentine Day's massacre. The method tonight was the same—a ring at the door-bell and a display of guns.

"Line up against the wall" the bandit identified as Burke said "Be quiet and we won't hurt you. Make any noise and we'll blow hell out of you."

Police going out on the call took a number of pictures with them and from the assortment all four victims selected those of Burke and Winkler.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—UP—A stalwart logger from Portland, Ore., walked into police headquarters here late today and directed police to a small apartment where they found the body of his sweetheart, Pearl Lambert, 30, a Canadian, who had been strangled to death.

The logger, Daniel Pitt, 36, was taken to detective headquarters, where, officials said he described a quarrel he had with Miss Lambert just before she was strangled. Authorities claimed that when he first walked into the police station he announced "I just killed a woman up at 1443 Fillmore street."

With detectives from the homicide detail Pitt returned to the apartment.

Within the rooms everything was in the wildest disorder. Stretched on the floor, with chairs bedded and furniture hurled on all sides of it, was the body of the girl, with the pillow with which she was strangled still pressed about her face and throat.

Pitt told his story to Captain of Detective Charles Dullea and Margaret Allen McGinn of the homicide squad.

ALL STANDARDS IN WIN OVER MECHANICS

Low scores continued to be the rule in the Standard Oil twilight baseball competition yesterday when the All Standards came up from the cellar to hand a 3 to 2 defeat to the Mechanics on the first street diamond.

The All Standards started the fireworks in the first half of the first inning when a single by Cullers brought Tharson home. The Mechanics decided not to be left out in the cold in the second period, and Ellison consequently trotted across the home plate to tie the score, 1 to 1. Excitement was almost lacking until the first of the sixth, when Cullers scored for the All Standards and Ellison again reached home for the Mechanics. The winning run was pitched by Yore, All Standard center fielder, on a wild pitch by Kersten during the first of the seventh. The Mechanics tried strenuously but unsuccessfully during the last half of the seventh inning to raise their standing.

Both Didier of the All Standards and Kersten of the Mechanics allowed but six base hits in yesterday's contest. Ellison was the only athlete who garnered more than a single base. Ellison nicked Didier for a double.

The All Standards will attempt to repeat last night's success when they clash with the Refinery boys next Wednesday at 5 o'clock at First street. The Barrel House is at present at the top of the ladder, with one victory and no defeats. The Mechanics and All Standards are tied for second place, with one win and one defeat each, while the Refinery boys are the under dogs, with no wins and one defeat.

After Sacramento had tied the score in the sixth inning, the Seals made three runs in the eighth when Baker singled with the bases full to send two runners across home plate and Sheely came in after a fly had been caught. The Senators rallied in the last of the eighth but could only score twice.

Portland, with six runs in the fourth inning, beat the San Francisco Missions, 10 to 7, and Hollywood, helped by six runs made in the third inning defeated Seattle 8 to 5.

8 California Track Stars To Go East

BERKELEY, May 15.—Eight track and field athletes were named today by Coach Walter Christie to represent the University of California at the I. C. 4-A meet at Cambridge, Mass., May 30 and 31. The eight men on the entry list will leave Berkeley May 22 after participating in the annual California Intercollegiate meet May 16 and 17 at Palo Alto.

Among the eight are three captains of Golden Bear cinder teams: Captain-elect Everitt Mossman, distances; Captain Al Pogolotti, crack hurdler; and Emery Curtice, javelin thrower who slipped the Bears in 1929. The other five members of the squad are Kenneth Churchill, javelin; Julius Zelman, 80; Richard Rice, high jump; and William Koblik and G. Poolpole vaulters.

Four of the eight are experienced in the way things go at the national intercollegiate meet. Curtice and Churchill took second and third respectively in the javelin last year; Pogolotti placed fourth in a record breaking flight of low hurdles, Mossman was ill and unable to finish in the two-mile run. The Bears will bank heavily on Curtice and Churchill to bring home points in the spear throw. Churchill won his event in the 'big meet' with a toss of 205 feet 1 inch, and Curtice threw 210 feet against the Olympic club. These are their best marks of the season, although both men made better marks in 1929.

Pogolotti has done 14.7 in the high sticks this year and has come close to 24 flat in the lows. He should take points in both events. Mossman has been consistent under 4:30 in the mile all year. His best time was 4:27.8, made against the Olympic club. He did 9:34.4 last year in the two mile. Rice has not duplicated the performance this season, chiefly because he has concentrated his efforts on the mile run. In the Stanford meet, where he ran both races, the new Bear captain won in 9:51.

Zelman, despite his lack of experience, has done 1:57.9 in the 880, and is steadily improving. Rice has cleared better than 6 feet in the high jump, and with steady improvement of his form should go higher. Pool may take points in the pole vault, since he has cleared 12 feet with fair ease. Kiblik will gain good experience in the meet, but will have a battle on his hands for points since he has not cleared 13 feet this season.

Braves Defeat Senators In Double Header

The Boston Braves and Washington Senators won the only two games played in the major leagues today due to cancellation of the other six.

Sam Jones hit his fourth game of the season, pitching Washington to a 4 to 2 victory over Cleveland. Sam Rice hit in his 25th consecutive game.

After the White Sox had tied the score 6-6 with a three run rally in the first of the fifth, rain prevented the Athletics from playing their half and the game ended in no contest.

New Name For Athletic Field

BERKELEY, May 15.—Southwest field, for more than a year without a suitable name, will be known as "Edwards Field" in the near future. The newest athletic field of the University of California was named yesterday in honor of Col. George C. Edwards, one of the first graduates of the Berkeley institution, in recognition of his interest in student affairs and athletics.

Colonel Edwards, who will be 78 years old in June, was a member of the class of 1873, the first to graduate at Berkeley. He was the first commandant of the University Cadets, holding the rank of major. Upon his graduating, he was made colonel, and for years was head of the Cadet organization. He became a member of the department of mathematics, and in 1895 conducted a campaign for funds which sent the track team on a triumphal tour of the east. For years he has acted as timer at track meets on California Oval.

Colonel Edwards became professor of mathematics in 1910. He retired in 1918 after 37 years of continuous service. In 1923 the LL. D. degree was conferred upon him. He is a trustee of Mills college and a former president of the California Alumni association. His wife, the late Mrs. Marietta Edwards, was a daughter of A. K. P. Harmon, donor of Harmon gymnasium for men at the university.

The field which bears his name was put to use for the first time last fall as a football practice field. During the spring it was converted into a baseball diamond, where all of the Bears' home games were played.

JONES IN WIN IN WALKER OPENER

SANDWICH, Eng., May 15.—UP.—Great Britain's hopes of scoring its first Walker Cup victory were shattered today when Captain Bobby Jones and his United States team won three of the four opening day foursome matches.

Eight singles matches remain to be played tomorrow, with the cup going to the team winning a majority of total matches. The three victories at the unfamiliar Scotch foursome play in which Great Britain was conceded the advantage, makes it necessary for the United States to score only three victories and a half in the remaining 8 matches to clinch the cup for the sixth consecutive time.

Bobby Jones, captain of the invaders, and his teammate, Dr. O. F. Wilfong of Portland, Ore., led the American assault with an overwhelming 8 to 7 victory over Rex Hartley and Tony Torrance.

Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, United States amateur champion, and Francis Outmet of Boston, the only player to compete in all of the six Walker cup competition, defeated John Nelson Smith and William Campbell, 2 and 1.

Don Moe of Portland, Ore., and Roland MacKenzie of Wilmington, Del., youngsters of the American team beat Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout, 2 and 1.

Cyril Talley and Roger Wethered, British captain, turned in England's only victory, defeating George Van Elm of Detroit and George Voigt of New York, 2 up.

Fair, mild weather reacted to the advantage of the Americans and although they were virtual strangers to the Royal St. George links, the visitors putted better than their British rivals. As in previous Walker cup competitions, superiority at the short game around the greens decided the contests.

Jones and Wilfong were the only Americans to take an advantage on the first nine holes, turning 4 up over Hartley and Torrance. The other three matches were all square at the turn, Jones and Wilfong picked up an additional hole on the incoming nine and were 5 up at the completion of the morning round. Moe and MacKenzie were one up, Voigt and Van Elm were two up and Outmet and Johnston held a three hole advantage.

The British golfers rallied during the afternoon and at the completion of 27 holes two of the matches were squared, while Jones and Wilfong had a 7-hole lead and Moe and MacKenzie were three up.

FISH-FASHIONED KITE entered at a kite flying contest at Washington. Parker Cook, president of the Washington Gun club, is reeling the fish in.

MEASLES

By DR. G. A. ESTERBERG
Measles is considered a disease of childhood, although no age is exempt. It is an acute, highly contagious fever which seems to center in the upper air passages and the skin. It was first discovered by an Arabian physician of the 9th century, who thought it was a mild form of smallpox until later research gave it a recognized position of its own.

Its period of incubation (from the time of contact with the disease until it develops in the body) is from 7 to 18 days with about 14 days as an average.

The first symptoms are usually those of a common cold. Sneezing, chilliness, running of the nose, redness of the eyelids and possibly some cough. The more severe cases may be accompanied by a chill, or in the case of babies, they may start with a convulsion. In older people in addition to the cold symptoms they may have headache, nausea and vomiting. The tongue is turned red and the mucous membranes of the mouth and throat may be congested.

Face Colored

The eruption appears on the fourth to fifth day and may cover the whole surface of the body beginning with the face and extending to the chest, abdomen and even the legs. The color is most intense on the face, gradually fading as it extends further down the body. The characteristic shot-like feeling under the finger (when rubbing over the surface of the eruption) is an identifying symptom.

The general symptoms do not abate until the appearance of the rash, generally lessening about the fifth to sixth day. Desquamation begins after the rash fades. In mild cases it may be complete in a few days, but in severe cases it may take several weeks.

Measles may be distinguished from scarlet fever, which also begins with a redness of the skin, by its longer initial stage and the blotchy, irregular character of the rash. Scarlet fever usually affects the throat while measles chiefly affects the mouth.

Gains Headway

Danger of communicating the disease to others is especially pronounced during the catarrhal first stage. For this reason it often gains a headway in a community because it is difficult to recognize the symptoms early enough to protect the balance of the community. Once recognized the child should be carefully quarantined to prevent spreading it.

The death rate of measles is not high, but the pulmonary complications in children may make it serious. Enlarged tonsils and adenoids, with a consequent lessened resistance to the invasion of tuberculosis or other infectious diseases is a common aftermath of measles. Bronchitis and bronchopneumonia may appear at the height of the eruption or as desquamation begins. For this reason this period of the disease should be carefully nursed.

Intestinal catarrh and acute colitis is not an uncommon complication following measles. Inflammation of the middle ear or the mastoids is all too common.

Light Diet
Light diet, good ventilation and a warm bed for the measles patient! Keep the bowels well open. Tepid baths reduce the fever which seldom reaches dangerous heights. Keep the mouth and nostrils well cleaned in EVERY case of measles. During desquamation of the skin.

Remember that convalescence is the most important stage of the disease. Do not let the child catch cold after the measles! Above all, be sure that the patient is entirely free of all the toxins of the disease. The lingering toxins of such infections is a constant menace to the future health and welfare of the child.

NIX ON DAMES TO BE SHOWN HERE

Since "Nix on Dames" the Fox-Movietone all talking feature, which comes to the Fox California tomorrow is a story of vaudeville players and their love affairs, it seems only appropriate that the various members of the cast should have had experience on the big time.

In fact, with one exception, every player has put in from six months to twenty years in vaudeville work, which in turn is one of the reasons why the production has a genuine ring to it. Mae Clarke made several successful trips over the Keith circuit. Robert Ames left Broadway for a year in the "three a day." William Harrigan has had a number of excursions into vaudeville between his theatrical engagements. Maude Fulton played almost every circuit in the country, as George MacFarlane. Hugh McCormick, the ventriloquist, has spent some twenty years in vaudeville, and his wife, Grace, Wallace, nearly equals that record. Marshall Ruth, rises the Orpheum time for over a year, and Benny Hall has appeared on many eastern vaudeville stages. Billy Colvin has done much vaudeville work, both here and abroad. Only Camille Rovelte, the concert pianist, has never played the "time," although she has made many concert engagements.

Donald Gallagher directed "Nix on Dames," which represents a new talking departure, both dramatically and photographically. The story is by Maude Fulton, and the various snappy musical numbers by the songwriting team of L. Wolfe Gilbert and A. Baer. Also a talking comedy "In A Dormitory" appears on the same billing.

YOUNG EAGLES TO END RUN TONIGHT

If you can imagine that never to be forgotten epic of war aviation, "Wings" with its zooming planes, its thrilling air fights, its awe inspiring grandeur, its romance, its safety and its pathos—all talking, you'll have a pretty good idea of the great entertainment that awaits you at the Fox California theater today. There "Young Eagles" with Charles (Buddy) Rogers, in the starring role, is enjoying a rousing welcome.

But it was never better, even in "Wings" than he is in this smashing entertainment. He's a dashing young officer of aviation who fights and loves, is convincingly duped and greatly rewarded in fast moving and spectacular fashion. The picture moves from the battle fronts of the skies to the easy life behind the lines, from the danger and suspense of war to the gaiety and glamor of glittering Paris.

And the girl is Jean Arthur, the darling little charmer of "Half Way to Heaven". After her performance in "Young Eagles" she's sure to be established as the all-time girl friend of America's boy-friend. Paul Lukas has a handsome role, and handles it handsomely. And for laughs, there's Stuart Erwin, who lifted the roof as the dumb "Axel" in "Sweetie".

The billing tells you that William A. Wellman, the wizard who directed "Wings" and "Lesson of the Condemned," made the picture, and, immediately, you're assured of a gorgeously staged and capably handled production of authentic thrills and climactic action. Don't miss "Young Eagles" if you want good, all-around memorable entertainment.

Also talking comedy "Scotch".

PRIVATE LIVES OF SCREEN STARS

Laurel and Hardy

I just saw Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "The Rogue Song." In short subjects they're the laugh provoking comedians. In "The Rogue Song," they are artists.

Laurel and Hardy are different funsters. Their work is not of the hit or miss variety, being rather the result of studied effort. Tradition says the comedians only do their best work under the most tragic circumstances. Not so with Stan and Oliver.

with the news that their poor old mothers are dying, or their wives have eloped with the iceman, or the banker to whom they have entrusted their life savings has suddenly left for South America, and then, amidst all their woes proceed to lift the audience to sales of merriment with comic antics.

Stan was just another typical English comedian. Hardy was planning to be a lawyer until the legal tomes became too musty for him. Then they met—in Hollywood—and the screen was given two rare personages. Both are very much interested in each other. They are buddies on and off the sets. There's just enough difference in their temperaments to make them ideal pals. If Oliver wants to talk that's okay with Stan, if either wants to be silent, that's fine, too.

In their private life they find a compatibility of spirit. Yet one is not lost without the other. They don't carry their screen personalities outside the gates of the studio.

Oliver Hardy, a graduate of the University of Georgia, is the ideal prototype of the modern southern gentleman. Few people, meeting him on the street, recognize him as the accomplished comedian. His natural reserve is reflected in his appearance.

A smiling, debonaire man-about-town, Stan Laurel, not the wise-cracking attention seeker, but a jovial good fellow, to whom everybody likes to say "Hello". Years of travel with theatrical troupes all over Europe, North and South America have given him a polish and gentleness that no university training could. He speaks half a dozen languages fluently.

SOVIET ETHICS LIKENED TO RELIGION

MOSCOW, May 15. —UP— The new "morality" preached to the youth of the Soviet land by its Communist leaders is in some of its tenets remarkably like the age-old morality taught by religious leaders.

An attempt has just been made to summarize so-called "Communist ethics" and it appears that the principal commandments may easily win the approval of some Fundamentalist preachers abroad.

Hard work, durable love, marriage, totalism, mutual help, kindness — such is the ethical code of Communist youth as expounded by its most advanced portion, and supported by older Bolshevik spokesmen.

One of the curious paradoxes of the present moment is that the very leaders who are most violently attacked abroad as enemies of morality and corruptions of youth, are in the forefront of the struggle for the new morality.

Emilian Yaroslavsky, head of the Society of Godless and staunch opponent of organized religion of all types, is in substantial agreement with most of the prelates who are now attacking him insofar as basic ethical questions are concerned.

He has just published a long article in which he brings to national attention an ethical code gotten up by a commune of young workers in an electrical factory here. Asserting that it shows a commendable effort to make the Communist viewpoint or such vital questions more exact, Yaroslavsky expresses a fervent hope that this new ethics will penetrate not only the youth of the land, but the whole working population.

The code begins with a pledge that the members of the commune will serve as inspiring examples to all other workers in this electrical factory of efficiency, industriousness, punctuality and all other virtues which make for a bigger and better production.

It then prescribes "real comradesly relations, mutual help and mutual trust" among the members of the commune, who must, moreover, take the leading role in social work in their factory. It then declares:

"Our commune does not countenance casual sexual relations or sexual license. It considers that the only correct solution of the sex problem is a long marriage, based on love and on common class interests."

"Neither inside nor outside the commune, may members drink alcohol."

be painted a distinctive color — let's say white or blue — and that the practice of hiding behind clouds should be prohibited.

"Let's have our air police out in the open, and there will not be so many wrecks."

And still another:
Dear Editor: I have a complaint to lodge against these women drivers.

"Yesterday I saw one four passenger plane loaded with women speeding along at more than 600 miles an hour."

"And, as usual, the woman driver was talking to her companions and was paying no attention to the traffic."

"The fact is that my driver barely escaped a crash with this plane when the woman driver very suddenly zoomed directly in front of us."

"There should be something done about this."

Burke Council Y. M. I. To Attend San Leandro Meet

Many members of the Burke Council Y. M. I. are planning to journey to San Leandro Sunday to join in the demonstration there, according to an announcement made at a meeting of the institute in the Memorial hall last night.

The demonstration will be participated in by both Y. M. I. and Y. L. I. groups, and starting with a parade in the morning will end with a dance in the late afternoon. Following the parade a mass will be held, and before the dance in the afternoon a joint initiation will be held.

The local groups will meet at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue at nine o'clock in the morning and make the trip in a body.

Plans were also made to attend a demonstration in Antioch June 8. During the meeting last night first nomination of delegates to the convention in Yosemite this June was held. Election will be held at the next meeting.

No Summer Slump For Richmond!

Industry knows no summer slump in Richmond

Not alone will our established industries continue operating all through the summer season, but we will have new payrolls in effect this year that were not in evidence in the summer of 1929.

The Filice and Perrelli cannery will be operating this season, with several hundred employees at work. Construction of the Ford plant should start in the immediate future, and this contract will call for a large force of well-paid workers.

Richmond, instead of suffering from any seasonal dullness this summer, should enjoy an unusual period of prosperity.

Entirely aside from any new industries, Richmond is in an enviable position. Industry here is diversified. Our eggs are not all in one basket. We have many manufacturing lines, and if one should reduce its force another many increase, thus stabilizing the community's financial of cities. No other community offers the immediate possibility of great growth and expansion.

Students of conditions in California and the immediate possibility of great growth and expansion in industry and population that is to be found in Richmond.

TWO GUILTY IN OAKLAND PAVE GRAFT

OAKLAND, May 15.—UP.—Criminating the east bay paving graft scandal, which has occupied the public attention for months, two men were found guilty today of conspiracy charges against them in indictments, while a third defendant was exonerated.

William H. Parker, former street commissioner, and John G. Garbutt, patent paving man, were each found guilty on a charge of conspiracy to bribe, in connection with an asserted plot to favor certain concerns in the granting of paving contracts.

Ray Lamberson, former secretary to Parker, was found not guilty on the conspiracy charge. He had already been freed of the bribery charge, when superior Judge Fred V. Wood ordered the jury to bring in a directed verdict of not guilty on that count last Tuesday.

Bribery Count. Parker and Garbutt were also exonerated on the direct count of bribery.

Their conviction on the conspiracy charge carries with it a possible sentence of from one to seven years in the penitentiary. Parker is ineligible for probation, according to state law, which dictates that a public official convicted of a felony shall be thus ineligible.

The jury which brought in the verdict after 48 hours of deliberation, recommended leniency for both defendants.

Lamberson to Serve. Lamberson, despite his acquittal, must go to San Quentin prison this week, to commence serving a sentence of one to ten years for manslaughter, of which he was convicted recently in connection with the death of Mrs. Marjorie Buschlin, in a traffic accident.

Sentence on Parker and Garbutt will be passed by Judge Wood on Saturday, unless they file an appeal. Their attorneys, Willard Pierce, had not yet determined whether or not to appeal. Both the defendants were hard hit by their conviction, in contrast to Lamberson, who was jubilantly receiving the congratulations of friends on his dismissal on the charges.

Feelings Strong. "Public feeling has been such that it was impossible to get a jury that would act on the evidence alone," commented Pierce, voicing the sentiments of the two convicted men.

Parker and Garbutt were remanded to the custody of the sheriff, and were booked at the county jail.

Meanwhile, in the court of Superior Judge Edward W. Engs, final pleas were being presented in the case of J. J. Collier, A. R. Shurtliff and J. L. Davis, former deputies, and Jack Garbella, Livermore cafe proprietor and alleged bootlegger, accused of bribery and conspiracy.

It is thought that closing arguments will be concluded so that the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

Air Meet To Be Held At Tracy May 24

TRACY, May 16.—One of the features of the Second Annual Tracy American Legion Air Show to be held here Saturday and Sunday, May 24 and 25, will be the aviators' ball, to be held in the Arlington hall on Saturday evening, May 24, according to Dewey L. Lowell, chairman in charge. The dance held in connection with last year's show was attended by more than 100 aviators, and with the 1000 other dancers who were attracted to the big dancing pavilion, made one of the biggest dancing crowds for this section of the country.

Polly Watson's orchestra of Stockton, said to be the most famous jazz producers of the San Joaquin valley, will furnish the music for the second annual ball. Special decorations and novelty effects will be carried out, and variety-colored lights are being arranged throughout the hall.

Many of the aviators attending the dance will appear in uniform, which will add an atmosphere strikingly appropriate in connection with the air show.

The dance will be the grand finale of the first day's air show, and is scheduled to begin promptly at nine o'clock, after a special exhibition of night flying under an illuminated field at the airport.

Miss Clarabell Goesker and Miss Alice Knudsen, queens of the Tracy American Legion Air Show, will have places of honor at the ball.

First Evidence In Julian Pool Case Introduced

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—UP.—First evidence was introduced today at the trial of 17 members of Julian Petroleum Pool No. 1, accused of having collected approximately 53 per cent interest on a one million dollar loan to the Julian corporation before its collapse three years ago.

Complicated legal objections to the indictments which led to almost three continuous days of argument was done away with in a ruling by Superior Judge William Aggeler, and the state called Deputy District Attorney Fred Shelley to the witness stand.

Shelley immediately began to identify documents, which assertedly showed a conspiracy between the defendants to force the Julian company to pay usurious interest.

The process was a slow one, as the battery of 23 defense attorneys interposed objection to almost every question asked.

Louis B. Mayer, motion picture magnate, and Motley Flint, leading banker, are among the men on trial.

Former Local Man Killed In Machine Crash

Police are today searching for a hit-run driver who is alleged to be responsible for an accident which claimed the life of Emil Weber, former Richmond resident, and Contra Costa agent for the Colcan West Brewing company of Oakland.

Weber, according to police report, was enroute to Santa Cruz for an outing when his car was forced from the highway by an unidentified driver who sped on after Weber's car was overturned. Weber was pinned beneath the car and was dead when extricated.

Ray Mori, of Burlingame, Weber's brother-in-law, was painfully injured in the crash, and Mrs. Weber, who was also in the car, escaped without injuries.

Weber was 45 years old, and recently has resided in San Francisco. He maintained headquarters at the old brewery building on Chanlor avenue and Twenty-first street, Richmond, and was a member of the local Elks lodge.

The body will be brought here to the Bert Curry funeral chapel today. Date for the funeral has not been set.

Deceased was the husband of Blanche Weber, and the father of Emma Weber, of Berkeley.

He was the brother of Harry Weber of Newark; Philip of Sacramento; Leon of Millbrae; Mrs. J. Bonden, of Sacramento; Mrs. R. Mori of Millbrae; Miss W. A. Rogers of San Francisco; the late George Weber, and a nephew of Mrs. P. Woudock, of Oakland.

Besides being affiliated with the Richmond Elks, he belonged to the Forerunners of America and the Eagles.

He had lived here for more than 20 years. He was a native of San Francisco.

Driver Held On Hit, Run Charge

MARTINEZ, May 15.—Accused of driving the automobile that struck down Henry Islicker Monday night and failing to stop, William Stewart 35, of San Francisco was under arrest today.

Although he admitted colliding with an automobile driven by W. J. McMullin, Stewart denied that he knew of striking Islicker. He was connected with the hit-run charge by broken glass found near the spot, which is said to correspond with glass missing from his broken windshield.

Islicker was found in an unconscious condition but revived enough to declare he had been struck by a hit-run motorist. He is still in the county hospital here.

Schmidt Lane, died recently at a San Francisco hospital.

A. Giovannoli Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Antonio Giovannoli, 73, who died yesterday morning at his home at 538 Sixth street, will be held from the St. Martin church at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, under the auspices of the Curry Funeral chapel. Interment will follow at St. Joseph's cemetery.

A native of Italy, Giovannoli came to California when a small boy, and has lived in Richmond the past five years. He was a retired commissioner of the Tropical Fruit department of San Francisco, and has operated an apartment house in Richmond.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosa Giovannoli, and a daughter, Mrs. Tille Costa, both of Richmond.

GIRLS NAMED FOR TRADE MEET

Following a school assembly yesterday at the Richmond union high school, at which George S. Williams, president of the Foreign Trade Club of San Francisco, was the speaker, final plans were whittled into shape for sending the boy and girl delegates from the school to the foreign trade convention at Los Angeles.

Audra Wilson, Edward Horton, Lois Hutchison and Walter Thomas are the four Richmond students who will go south to attend the trade conclave Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

They will be accompanied by P. M. Sanford, president of the Richmond chamber of commerce; David C. Gray, of the high school faculty, who will teach the foreign trade course in the high school next year; and Miss Norrine Buchanan, one of the high school faculty.

The students selected for the trip are among the first to enroll in the foreign trade course which has been instituted by the recently organized Student Travel bureau. Next summer it is planned, students will be chosen from the class to receive the Fred Parr scholarship in the form of free trips to foreign countries.

Williams, at the school assembly, declared the plan has great value, as foreign trade is growing rapidly, and new men and women must be found to carry it on in future years.

"It is the young people of today who will see an enormous expansion in this important field," he said. "Those who equip themselves through enrollment in such courses as are planned in Richmond, will find wonderful careers opening to them."

Word from convention headquarters in Los Angeles is to the effect that a place will be made on the program for the Richmond delegates, and that the Richmond plan is to receive national recognition through the gathering.
